Connie Mack had nothing to add to what he had already said as regards the retirement of Baker. The tall Tiogan again repeated that he would not sell Baker for all the money in the U.S.A., and that it was not a question of salary that prompted Baker to assert he had quit the game.

Good competition should be seen in Georgetown University indoor track and a single contest in which the best talent in this section is not entered, and the open races and field competitions will umber among the competitors not only the most capable in the south Atlantic re gion, but also many athletes of ability be many fast teams from the colleges

The South Atlantic Intercollegiate Atla etic Association championships ought to be very well contested, as usual. Lee and George Washington will be represented in these competitions also.

Enough local athletes of class are entered in the scholastic fifty yards and four-forty yards dashes. Brewer and Rose of St. Alban's, Maxam and Grifflith of Western, Millstead, Gates, Hunt, Agnew and Hill of Central, should furnish some splendid races. When these are pitted against such men as Smith of Mercersburg and Hornsby of Tome Institute brilliant competition ought to be the result.

With men from all the colleges and universities in the entire section in competition against the best the clubs and schools offer in the open events, and mixed with these a few of the best men from some of the northern institutions and clubs, there seems to be no question about the quality of these contests.

There will be relay races galore. Of course, the contest between Yale and Princeton at two miles is likely to occasion more general interest than any other one. These two teams have always furnished good running and close finishes. Lehigh and Georgetown will struggle in what should also be a close contest in the final race on the program, the distance being one mile. Johns Hopkins and Washington and Lee are to meet in a mile race, too. Another event of this character which will attract considerable attention is that booked for Catholic University, St. John's and Lebanon Valley. The Gallaudet quartet and the Maryland Agricultural College are also scheduled to meet over a mile course.

There will be several events in which clubs and prep schools will take part. The principal contests of this character will be those in which Episcopal High and Tome will face and in which four of the local high schools will be represented in an event for the scholastic championship of the District. The Columbia Athletic Club, which has been having a rather successful year, is booked to run against other clubs.

The Columbia Athletic Club, which has been having a rather successful year, is booked to run against other clubs. The Potomac Boat Club and the Washington Canoe Club will appear in a dual event, one in which the backers of these two organizations appear very much interested. Besides these there will be any number of races between chools and colleges.

The University of Virginia has only one game standing between it and the south Atlantic basket ball championship—that with George Washington at the National Guard Armory tonight. The Hatchetites feel confident they will give a good account of themselves against the Charlottesville team, while Virginia figured its real test was to come last night and not this evening.

For spirit and hard play that game between Virginia and Catholic University last night was all that could be asked. The Charlottesville five won because it played the better basket ball and proved itself to be the better team. By winning from the Brooklanders, Virginia gave evidence of greater prowess than any other quint in the south has shown. It defeated C. U. at Charlottesville and then came here and got away with a victory, even though it was by a very narrow margin.

vised Johnson not to report to Washington in the event that he had decided not to join the Federals until after United States District Judge Landis announces his decision in the Federals with the same worked against Catholic University.

thas has worked against Catholic University.

It must be admitted that the contest could be called a hard-luck affair for C. U. Virginia made nearly all the close shots it attempted while the local five missed more than it made. Both quints were more or less lucky in getting the ball into the basket from difficult positions, but the chances are that Virginia was more favored in this respect, too. In the last minute of play Strickling scored a toss from the middle of the floor and well to the side. Of course, the foul later thrown won, but it was this goal which put the visitors in a position to get the victory.

In a position to get the victory.

Stickley of Virginia proved himself to be the most capable forward that has played here this season. His work was remarkable from the very first of the game, when he caged the ball on a difficult shot Stickley can shoot accurately, can play a splendid defensive game, is exceptionally fast and agile, and combines pretty nearly all the requisites of a good player. Stickley the only forward on any team that has played here who has been able to keep away from Keegan, the star guard of C. U., who has covered pretty nearly all the best men of visiting quints. Keegan, from his attempts to keep "on" Stickley all the time, appeared to be more exhaus ed at the end of that game last night than in any contest in which he has taken part.
